

CEIAG Code of Practice / Provision

We as a school aim to ensure that our pupils are given the highest quality careers education, information, advice and guidance by providing the following:

- Structured careers education and advice that is part of our curriculum.
- A wide range of partnerships with local businesses which provide our pupils with work experience and other opportunities to help better prepare them for work.
- The opportunity to speak to a range of education and training establishments and employers, so that pupils can make the best decision on what is right for them.
- An open invite to parents and carers in the careers decision-making process by inviting them to activities and events such as option evenings and careers fairs.
- Help and support for our most disadvantaged pupils to raise their aspirations, confidence and skills, through access to role models who can provide information and advice, and opportunities for work-related learning.
- A structured programme of staff training within the field of careers information and advice, to keep them up to date with labour market information and qualification pathways.
- An entitlement to all learners from year 8 to year 13 to have access to impartial careers advice and guidance during each academic year.
- The commissioning of Impartial Advice by Matrix Accredited Careers Advisors, from our local Connexions service.

This code is based on the value that meeting the needs of our pupils should be at the heart of all CEIAG provision, policy and practice in our school.
